

Student Achievements in Academics and the Arts

An Elon Celebration

April 27 - May 3, 2008

Welcome to CELEBRATE! 2008

The Student Undergraduate Research Forum (SURF) has been an Elon tradition since 1993. The Annual Awards Day Ceremony sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK) has been a spring tradition recognizing exemplary achievements in academics and service since 1979. Since 2006, CELEBRATE! has brought together SURF, ODK and other events in a week-long celebration of students' achievements in academics and the arts.

This year, more than 50 events – from academic research presentations to art exhibitions, from dances to theater, from readings to recitals, from plays to performances, from concerts to poetry, from fairs to films, and from showings to seminars – will take place at venues across campus during the week of CELEBRATE!

A new event this year during SURF will be a celebration of faculty scholarship. Faculty members from many academic departments will give presentations to promote their scholarship and to stimulate interest in Elon's outstanding undergraduate research program. Everyone is encouraged to attend a faculty scholarship presentation at 9:00 AM and then to attend College Coffee and the Student Poster Session at 10:00 AM to kickoff SURF.

Please join me and the entire Elon community as we CELEBRATE! Student Achievements in Academics and the Arts for 2008.

Steven D. House, Dean of Elon College, the College of Arts and Sciences

Fading Traditions of the East: Opening Reception

For more than one hundred years, the kimono has been one of the major iconic figures of Japanese culture. This singular form has inspired artists and designers around the globe, but within today's ever-changing culture and attitudes, the luster of the kimono is fading. What happens when traditional designs and beliefs are no longer the main focus of the art form.

NOTES

Elon University: A Learning Community

By embracing the distinct intellectual heritages of the arts and sciences - mathematics and the natural sciences, the social and behavioral sciences, the humanities, and the arts - and sustaining premier professional programs in business, communications and education, Elon has formed a vibrant learning community.

At Elon, we believe the single most important aspect of a quality education is the direct, personal interaction between a professor and a student. When combined with Elon's strong commitment to study abroad, leadership, service learning, internships and undergraduate research, these encounters open the minds of students and professors, and transform the way they view the world. The relationships that develop among students and faculty - in exchanging ideas, testing hypotheses, conducting research, and constructing knowledge - are the cornerstone of Elon's collaborative learning community.

The liberal arts and sciences experience at Elon fosters intellectual curiosity, helps students learn to think critically and analytically, improves students' ability to communicate, awakens a joy and passion for learning, and teaches students to be informed and responsible citizens.

CELEBRATE! 2008 brings together the stimulation of scholarly pursuit with the exhilaration of creative expression. While CELEBRATE! is a special week recognizing student achievements in academics and the arts, Elon offers many events throughout the year. The cultural calendar and speaker resources calendar provide a month by month overview of guest and faculty lectures, musical recitals, art exhibitions, theatrical performances, and special events. For a preview of what's coming be sure to visit the web page at http://www.elon.edu/e-web/news/cultural_events/.

CELEBRATE!

On behalf of CELEBRATE! I wish to thank all those who worked so hard to make this event possible.

Special thanks go to the planning committee: Scott Buechler, Stephen Futrell, Patti Gross, Becky Olive-Taylor, Tim Peeples, Rebecca Pope-Ruark, Paula Rosinski, Fred Rubeck, George Troxler, Shawn Tucker, Rob Saunders, Jason Springer, Karl Sienarth, Niki Turley, Janet Warman, Rex Waters, Michael Williams, and Mary Wise.

A special thank you goes to sophomore Erin Stevenson and junior Andrew Maurin for designing and editing the program.
