

CREATIVE TEAM APPLICATION

Live Oak Communications

Beginning in the fall semester of 2007, the School of Communications launched a student communications agency (PR and integrated communication). Live Oak Communications employed 19 account executives in its inaugural semester. Live Oak served both for-profit and not-for-profit clients in the North Carolina region. The director and assistant director of the agency guided student account teams in analyzing client challenges and executing programs to meet those challenges. Services offered by Live Oak include public relations, advertising, special event marketing, viral marketing, media relations, web site development, video creation and graphic design.

Live Oak Communications is run like a professional PR/advertising agency, with a staffed office located in McEwen 009. Creative team executives will be required to work two hours each week in the agency office, and attend an all-agency meeting every Monday from 5:30 to 6:30. Creative team executives are eligible to receive one hour of class credit each semester for their participation.

Live Oak is structured into client teams, with each team assigned one client per semester. The purpose of the creative team is to assist each team with projects for the respective clients. Projects will include video creation, website design and development, logo and graphic design.

Benefits of serving on a student communications agency include the opportunity to develop a professional identity, add real client work to your resume and portfolio, and an increased chance of being selected for internships and entry-level jobs. Having student agency work on your resume sets you above the pack when being considered for job opportunities.

Qualifications/Requirements:

- Any major is welcome to apply
- All years accepted: freshmen through seniors
- Minimum of a 2.7 GPA required
- Creative team executives will be interviewed by the Director and Assistant Director of the agency
- Those interested in graphic design and film/video creation are encouraged to apply
- Term: one semester

Creative team executive applicants should be committed to producing high quality, creative work for the agency. We intend to be one of the best university agencies in the country, and will be selecting only those students who are committed to helping us achieve that goal. The best creative team executives are those who are enthusiastic, resourceful, creative and eager to take on client challenges.

DEADLINE: Friday, November 9, 2007 5 p.m.
