Where Are They Now?

Class of 2013 graduates of the Public Health Program can be found working and earning advanced degrees from prestigious graduate schools throughout India, Maryland, North Carolina, and New Jersey.

In Their Own Words

“As a recent graduate, I have solicited the advice of the Center in regards to cleaning up resumes, editing personal statements, and searching for a health-related job upon returning from India. Responses have always been thorough, inviting conversation and offering further guidance - evidence that counselors are invested in being an asset to current Elon students and graduates.”
