Getting Started with Research Guides

Research Guides are customized webpages to highlight library and web resources for a particular course or subject area. Librarians work with members of the teaching faculty to construct a Research Guide using flexible templates to highlight resources relevant to an individual course or assignment.

Research Guides allow librarians to build a customized front door to the library website, minimizing frustration for students and facilitating easy access to relevant resources for your course and research assignments. Each Research Guide includes easy contact information for your liaison librarian (including a chat widget), as well as customized tabs for categories of resources.

To request a Research Guide for your course, please contact your liaison librarian or email us at: askalibrarian@elon.edu.
