NC CAMPUS COMPACT UPDATES - DETAILS

BIG ANNOUNCEMENT (Leslie)

RESOURCES (Chad)

- Remember our on-going resources:
 - Website: www.nccampuscompact.org
 - Sign-up for E-newsletters: monthly Digest & Update for Campus Liaisons
 - Civic Engagement Jobs – send your listings to Chad
 - Partnerships online journal - Nearly 2000 subscribers!
 - Are you subscribed? Have you contributed?
 - The election season reminds us that for our country to operate at its potential, we must build partnerships across partisan lines, between differing world views, and among diverse populations. We have plenty of such positive examples, role models, and programs operating in communities across the country as detailed in the articles and book reviews in the fall 2016 issue. In both domestic and international arenas, our featured scholars recognize that dialogue, problem solving, and collaborative goal setting set the stage for ethical and effective high-impact programs.

- Partnerships accepts manuscripts on a rolling basis. The journal is hosted by UNC Greensboro and edited by UNCG's Spoma Jovanovic. See web or contact Spoma Jovanovic: s_jovano@uncg.edu

ELECTION ENGAGEMENT (Chad)

- Highlights: 18 CEEP fellows at 13 schools; $7500 in mini-grants to 14 campuses; Sept. 10 NC College Voter Summit provides training for 60 student leaders from 17 campuses; facilitate monthly calls with NC college voter coalition; distribute Campus Vote Project letter to every CSAO in NC explicating rules for college student same-day registration during early voting.
- Follow @CampusElect_NC on Twitter for occasional news & info related to NC higher education civic engagement, will continue to spotlight EE in Digest
- Exploring next steps with NC college voter coalition
- Sustain momentum & awareness: NC election law is still being litigated – in late November 2016, a federal court ordered NC to re-draw state legislative districts and hold new elections in 2017, emphasize local elections, democratic participation beyond voting
