

July 24, 2018

Painless Productions (Los Angeles, CA) – Based in Los Angeles, Painless Productions is one of the TV industry's most innovative and respected full-service production companies. Painless develops and produces television shows for the largest entertainment companies in the world, including Discovery Channel, A&E, Travel Channel, TLC and others. As a development intern, you will help generate ideas and work on the process of transforming those ideas into shows. Development interns work alongside Development producers to analyze current programming trends, research potential subject matter, search for new talent, write show proposals, and assist in all aspects of producing sales tapes. If you are interested in applying, please send a resume and cover letter to daniel.lutman@painless.tv.

WUSA9 (Washington, DC) – WUSA9 is in search of talented college students looking for enriching paid internship opportunities for the Fall of 2018. There are many internships available including: Morning News Intern, Newsroom Intern, Online Intern, Production Intern, Technology Intern, Sports Intern, Marketing Intern, Photojournalist Intern and Sales Intern. To learn more about any of these internships or to apply please click here.

Media Maison (New York, NY) – PR without the BS - that's Media Maison's motto. Media Maison is a full-service, amped up, around-the-clock creative agency that specializes in public relations & marketing including, today's all-important social media component. Media Maison helps their clients gain nationwide exposure as a media specialist. As a Fall intern, you will be writing pitches, designing media graphics, and more for your clients. To apply, please send your cover letter and resume to ross@mediamaison.com.

WNYC (New York, NY) – Looking for an internship at New York Public Radio? NYPR internships are designed to be a learning experience for sharp, enthusiastic self-starters, with or without radio skills. Our interns do meaningful work across a variety of shows and departments, are an integral part of the team, and assist with all aspects of work. Over the course of the internship term, interns can learn a variety of skills, including reporting, editing, production, field recording, digital audio editing, taping, ProTools, mixing promos, planning live events, research and more. If this sounds good to you, click here to apply.

APCO (Raleigh, NC) – The APCO Raleigh office has two client services intern positions open for the fall. As a client services intern, applicants would conduct social media research, assist with online community management, assist in the development of client proposals as well as contribute to brainstorming and communications plans. APCO is an independently owned global communication stakeholder engagement and business strategy firm that challenges conventional thinking and creates powerful movements to help our clients succeed. APCO clients include large consumer brands and governments; industry associations and nonprofit organizations; and six of the top 10 companies on the Fortune 500. To apply, click here.

BSA | The Software Alliance (Washington, DC) – BSA is not your typical trade association. They represent some of the world’s largest companies that create software solutions that spark the economy and improve modern life, and our culture reflects this dynamic industry. BSA is seeking a Communications intern that will work as part of a small team of external communications activities that support BSA’s policy goals, corporate positioning and reputation. This is an exciting opportunity to gain hands-on experience in public policy communications. To apply for this position, please submit your resume and cover letter to careers-america@bsa.org. Include the position title and location in your subject line.

KYNE (New York, NY) – KYNE is an award-winning specialty health communications agency dedicated to helping improve and save lives. This internship offers the opportunity to work in an agency made up on a team of communications practitioners, serving a broad portfolio of government agencies, leading healthcare companies and foundations. An intern and KYNE will learn and be exposed to an extensive range of communications activities, including competitive and industry research and analysis, monitoring, writing and event planning. Applicants should have a genuine interest in public health, strong communication and writing skills, and an understanding of traditional and social media. To apply, please email careers@KYNE.com with your cover letter and resume to apply.

Friends of the High Line (New York, NY) – Friends of the High Line’s Internship Program is committed to finding New Yorkers with big dreams and cultivating them into future industry leaders. Their communications team has the essential task of managing the public image and brand of the High Line, as well as communicating programming and relevant organizational information to High Line audiences. As the Communications intern, you will be responsible for assisting in the development of relevant content that supports the High Line’s mission and current projects. You will also attend professional development workshops and networking events, have an opportunity to take paid certification courses and to join professional associates, create your own long-term projects, and develop your employment portfolio. To apply, click here.

Additional News...

Register your fall internship AFTER July 30th on the new EJM.

Then, call Professor Tonkins and she will register you over the phone, if you’re no longer on campus.

The School of Communications strives to provide accurate information to students from legitimate employers. Because of the volume of internship postings received by our office, we cannot screen every listing. We do not endorse the products or recommend the services of any of the employers listing internships through our office. We are not responsible for the safety, wages, working conditions or other employment aspects of any internship listed here. Students are urged to use common sense, caution, and practice due diligence in researching employers before applying for any internship positions within a business or organization.

FOR MORE INFORMATION:

Nagatha Tonkins

Assistant Professor/Director, Internships

Elon University, 112 McEwen

cominternships@elon.edu, (336) 278-6336

Check out our blog at: <http://www.internnetwork.wordpress.com>

Follow us on Twitter: <http://twitter.com/Cominternship>